

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

Campbell's Alleged Illness Thought to Mean More than Appears.

THE PROPOSED ADA DEBATE

Will Come Off if the Governor is "Well Enough." Though He is Sorry now That He Issued the Challenge—Dissatisfaction with the Voting System. Republicans Confident.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12.—There is an opinion here, and of strong prevalence, that Governor Campbell is not the sick man his friends and physicians would have it appear, but that he is working the sympathy dodge to perfection. While that executive was cooped up at his home from the eyes of visitors and suffering untold agonies from the reported malaria, there are those who positively assert that the Governor would enjoy his daily cigar from a big arm chair on the veranda. The contrast of this picture and that of a dying man is quite striking. And then, Governor Campbell recognizes the weakness of his stand on the tariff question more, perhaps, through ignorance than anything else. Now, with such an antagonist as McKinley looming up, nothing would be better than a little "lay off" in which to brush up on the question of protection.

Any person familiar with the tenacity with which malaria hangs on to the system is aware that one week at the sea shore is not going to restore a corpse to vigorous and energetic manhood, which the patient is announced to possess after his little confab with Brice, Hill & Co. at Fifth avenue hotel.

Then again, was not Governor Campbell's exchequer slightly depleted and needed a little breath of life breathed into it by those New York capitalists? As New York is the recognized stamping ground of Ohio politicians, it is not at all surprising that Campbell should open his campaign there. It is like Cal. Brice going to England for rhetoric and eloquence that the Governor of Ohio should visit the metropolis of the East for funds and an opportunity to post himself on the doctrines which he proposes to preach. There is certainly inconsistency some place. Either Campbell is playing "horse" for more time and working a "fake" inability racket, or else he will not return the sound representative of good health that he is cracked up to be.

And the Republican leaders are only too anxious for that return, and they feel it beneath their dignity to attack a sick man, even so-called, and are eager for the fray in which he shall defend himself. The Ada debate was the idea resulting from one of Campbell's breaks, and which no one regrets now more than himself. It is hinted by many that he will endeavor to avoid the meeting with McKinley, but it has gone too far now and would be a complete surrender to back down without some kind of an effort.

If the recent mock elections held here may be taken as a criterion, the life of the Australian ballot system in Ohio will be indeed short. In the next Legislature it will be animated struggle among all parties for the honor of giving it the death blow. In each of the trials by citizens of the intellectual classes no less than 7 per cent and oftentimes much higher rates of ballots have been discarded as illegal. And in each instance assistance has been given the voter. What the result will be this fall when the uneducated classes come to vote will be startling beyond comprehension.

Members of the various committees were seen by the INTELLIGENCER correspondent, and there is no hesitation on the part of any but that the bill will be repealed. Said one prominent politician: "The greatest dissatisfaction will be created among the scrappers and the farmers. Those who vote straight tickets will have but little trouble. But the farmers, and especially those who are opposed to some member on the ticket, will be sure to scratch, and in that they invalidate their ballot. Of course," he continued, "no one will know exactly whether his vote has been thrown out with the large number that rarely will be, but each voter will have a secret fear that he has been the misused party, and will do all he can to do away with such a system."

The farmer and laborer who have been accustomed to walking directly to the box and handing in their ballot without questioning will resent the "tom foolery" of the new system. They will not confess their ignorance of the method of choosing their candidates, but will openly rebel against it. The big mistake of the last Legislature was the adoption of the measure for the first election, instead of giving one or two years in which the voters could post themselves in its workings.

Hamilton county, which has always been noted as the seat of political sensations on the eve of a campaign, has been true to her following and the Democratic leaders are now trying to manufacture some campaign blunder out of the Anderson fall delivery. It is the same old story. Desperate means must be resorted to to lower the majority of McKinley, and like a drowning man grasps a straw, they adopt every ruse to create trouble in the Republican ranks. Those that are crying the loudest are accused of being the concoctors of the whole scheme.

Hamilton county, though not always to be relied upon in the support of a candidate gives strange signs of placing McKinley's majority at from five to seven thousand, than ever before. The Germans have a great deal to say as to the man that shall be elected. In fact it is this element that turns the tide. The ablest reason set forth for their support of the Republican ticket, is on the money question. There is not a German but has got an excellent understanding of money. "Gold" has been their study in the old country and every issue of it is as familiar to them as their linen descendants. They are in favor of the gold basis, and down on the silver issue. The prospects for the Republicans, therefore, in this district, are indeed flattering.

The Prohibitionists may be thankful to the Kangaroo voting system this fall for one reason, and that is the party will poll a larger vote. Heretofore in various parts of the State, and particularly the southern, where Prohibitionists are few and far between, they have been overlooked. The tickets sent for their use would mysteriously disappear on the road and if they would vote it must be with one of the stronger parties. Now the tickets are all on one sheet and the Prohibitionists will have the supreme satisfaction of knowing that their ballot at least went into the box to be counted or discarded with the rest.

A HUNGARIAN LAWYER

Says the Slave are Not Run—He Objects to Them Being Confounded.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 13.—Temes Pekar, of Buda Pest, Hungary, was at the Monongahela yesterday. Mr. Pekar is a legal student, with the qualifications of LL. D., who has been traveling through the country for the past six months. While his visit is of a pleasure character, his main object is to acquire information relative to the institutions of the country, and the practical application of a Republican form of government.

"Your people," he said yesterday, "do Hungarians a great injustice when you give that name to the Slavs and Bohemians who come to this country. In point of fact very few Hungarians do come over here for the reason that they have no especial incentive to do so. The Hungarians are generally a well-to-do people engaging in manufactures and farming, and being prosperous have no motive to emigrate."

NO WONDER SLAVS EMIGRATE

"It is different with the Slavs. These people though living in Hungary proper are not known as nor called Hungarians. They occupy the northern portion of the country, which is wild, mountainous and barren, and incapable of providing a living for the people in any way. The land is so poor and broken that no farming is possible, and the manufacturing establishments in the south have long since destroyed the only source of livelihood the people ever had, the manufacture of clothes, etc., in their own home by hand. This system of 'hand manufacture' was carried on very extensively, but has lapsed into nothing. The result is that the Slavs have emigrated. The steamship agents have gone amongst them and contrasted in glowing terms the magnificent prospects of rich living and high wages in America with their poverty at home. Believing in these men the Slavs have left the country in thousands, only to find things very different here to what they were painted. I have found that Hungarians who come to America and prosper return home and re-engage in business or farming. So they don't make very good colonists."

HE CRITICIZES EMPEROR WILLIAM. Speaking of the regard in which King William of Germany was held among German-speaking nations, Mr. Pekar said:

"The general feeling is that his thought and action are due to his experience. His many speeches, in which he so often alludes to himself as king, soldier and to what he will do, are all set down to the same cause, inexperience. It is generally regarded as a mistake, his removal of Bismarck. That soldier and statesman built up the German Empire and was his grandfather's chosen friend. If he was worthy of that confidence from the Emperor's two ancestors he was worthy of their successors."

"The mystery of Prince Rudolf's death," continued Mr. Pekar, "will never be revealed as long as Franz Josef lives. There is scarcely a doubt he was killed. The story lately published in a New York paper is about near the actual facts. At the time of his death the most conflicting reports were sent over the country, and the labored official bulletin at length issued from the court as to the cause and attributing it to suicide was not accepted by the public as being the truth. Nobody said so openly, however. The Emperor knows the facts and will retain them. Hapsburg's sister was an exceedingly beautiful woman and the general impression is that the Prince was killed by the brother."

IS IT MARSH?

A Detective who Claims He Has Located the Fugitive.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Detective Frank A. O'Brien, of Philadelphia, who has visited every western city of importance in search of Gideon W. Marsh, ex-president of the defunct Keystone National Bank, left Chicago this evening for a Baltimore & Ohio train, en route to Philadelphia. O'Brien has located the bank wrecker, but, as matters now stand, there is little probability of Marsh consenting to return to the City of Brotherly Love.

Before leaving for the East Detective O'Brien said it would be advisable for Postmaster General Wanamaker and others to be very careful about certain statements they have made and are still making about Mr. Marsh. The ex-president, Mr. O'Brien says, could unfold a tale that would rattle their nerves. Detective O'Brien has met the sons of Mr. Marsh and knows exactly where the father is. He admits, however, that Marsh is not within the jurisdiction of the United States, and that it would take considerable diplomacy and no little money to produce the fugitive in Philadelphia.

There are some persons, Mr. O'Brien says, who have ostensibly shown deep interest in the arrest and conviction of the bank wrecker, but who, if Marsh was brought back, would soon be missing from Philadelphia.

WORLD'S FAIR COMMISSION

Return from Abroad—Encouraged by the Trip—Major Handy's Experience.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The commission that went to Europe in the interests of the World's Columbian Exposition, as it is designated by Major M. P. Handy, returned yesterday. They were accompanied by Sir H. T. Wood, Secretary of the British Society for the Encouragement of Arts, Manufacture and Commerce, and James Dredge, who is the editor of the English weekly Engineering. Both are members of the Royal Commission to Chicago. Herr Wermuth, representing the German Government, as preliminary agent, also came with the commission.

Major Handy says the success of the commission was greater than he had anticipated. All the great European powers would be strongly represented at Chicago, and the show would not be merely a fair, but an International Exposition. France, England and Germany would have more space than they have ever taken in an exposition outside of their own territory. Vienna alone sends 1,500 exhibitors.

The commission traveled 3,000 miles in Russia. At the hotel where they stopped in Moscow their passports were taken up as usual, but were not returned when they were ready to go. Major Handy demanded to know why he and his friends couldn't have their passports. The hotel keeper, with many bows and apologetic grimaces, said, "I fear, Your Excellency, that the trouble is that your name is Moses." The major almost had a fit. After recovering he said there was no Hebrew blood in him, and that his family had been Americans for nine generations. There were explanations, and the major's passport was returned to him, on the back the examiner having written "Lutheran."

The commission will go to Philadelphia to-morrow. Tuesday they will accompany Sir Henry T. Wood, Mr. Dredge and Herr Wermuth to Washington, and present them to the President.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphia, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
